Case of Hydrophobia—Child Burned to Death—Small Fire Yesterday—Captain at Earlington—Caught on a Capias—Sudden Death at Herndon.

New Gas and Lighting Company.

The old Gas Company is no more. Its plant, franchises, and all appurtenances were sold last November, and its affairs are being wound up by the Hopkinsville Gas and Lighting Company, which became the successor. Work will commence at once on a large new gas holder, and other minor needed improvements which when completed will put the plant in fine shape for the constantly increasing demand for gas. The Board of directors consists of E. P. Campbell, R. T. Petree, W. T. Tandy, C. A. Thompson, and Walter Kelly, Secretary and Treasurer. The success of the company is considered assured.

Captured in Kentucky.

Ben Meriwether, col., who shot and killed Willis Hopkins, also colored, over a game of craps, near Peacher's Mill, Tenu, some months ago, was caught at Earlington Monday and is now in the Clarksville jail. Meriwether had a job in a coal mine and had been at work there ever since a few days after the killing took place.

The arrest was made by officer W. D. Rogers, who was paid the reward offered by Montgomery county for Meriwether's arrest.

Child Cremated.

A little colored girl, aged six years, daughter of Lizzie Oldham, who with her four children lives over Griffith's confectionery on Main Street, was terribly burned late Wednesday afternoon that she died in great agony after several hours of suffering. The mother, who works out, had locked the children in the room where the accident occurred. Parts of her body were literally roasted.

Arrested on a Raape Charge.

Marshal Boyd, of Crofton brought to the city Wednesday a negro named Eph Gant, ang lodged him in jail on a charge of raping a daughter of G. C. Laffoon, col., of Crofton. The girl claims that he gave her some liquor to drink and while she was under the influence of same took advantage of her. Gant will be taken to Crofton Saturday for trial. There does not appear to be much in the case.

Caught on a Capias.

At the last term of Court the grand jury returned a true bill against Lincoln Cooley for keeping a bawdy house. Cooley was arrested Monday afternoon and locked up. Wednesday he was tried before Judge Breithitt and fined $25 and costs. Cooley is a brother of Bob Cooley, who is in jail charged with housebreaking.

The Contract has Been Let.

With the opening of the magnificent new tavern Hopkinsville has everything to make her a complete city, excepting the greatest of all necessities and conveniences—a system of water works. That improvement will no doubt be obtained as soon as the question of a water supply is settled.—Danville Advocate.

Durham "Not Guilty."

The jury in the Durham case at Clarksville returned a verdict of "not guilty," Wednesday morning, and the prisoner was discharged. Durham was charged with poisoning Sam Price, a colored farm hand, several weeks ago.

Commonwealth not Ready.

The case of Wm. Morrison, charged with murder, was called yesterday noon and continued until Jan. 17th, the Commonwealth not being ready for trial. Morrison gave a $1,000 bond for his appearance.

The servants' house on the premises of Mr Nat Gaither, on Ninth St., caught on fire yesterday about noon from a defective fire. An alarm was turned in but the cabin was destroyed before the fire company could get to work in the snow storm. A small child of the cook was considerably burned about the face before it could be gotten out. The loss was about $100, uninsured.

CASE OF HYDROPHOBIA.

John Flowers Run Down by An Infuriated Calf.

Some three weeks ago a dog afflicted with rabies attacked a yearling belonging to John Flowers, col., near Newstead, and succeeded in biting the animal several times before he was dispatched. About a week ago the calf showed signs of hydrophobia and became so unruly that Flowers decided to kill it. He accordingly went out to the field where the animal was cutting its capers, gun in hand, and when within a few yards of his object, made preparations to fire. The calf made a rush for him and he fired, but the load went wide of its mark and the animal was so close on him that he dropped his gun and was thrown violently to the ground. The calf also fell and then came the death struggle. Flowers managed to land on top, and yelling for help, was heard by Alex Watt, col., who was hunting nearby. Watt came to his rescue in all haste and shot the animal dead, thus saving Flowers from what might have been a horrible death. Flowers has been almost prostrated since, and fears that he may yet become the victim of an attack of rabies from such close contact with the affected animal.

DIED OF HEART TROUBLE.

Mrs. Scruggs Suddenly Expires While Sitting Up In Bed.

A very sudden and unexpected death occurred from heart failure near Herndon a few days ago. Mrs. Martha Scruggs, wife of Mr. Ned Scruggs, a tenant on the farm of Mr. R. C. Pace, complained of feeling unwell soon after supper, and died. She had not been in bed long before she was seized with a coughing spell. After becoming almost exhausted from her efforts to clear her throat, she sat up in bed to try and obtain relief. This did not relieve her and she got out of bed and sat by the fire a while. Feeling better she returned to bed and while sitting on the railing suddenly gasped for breath and fell over dead. She had been in her usual health for some time and had just returned from a visit to a neighbor who so suddenly struck her. Mrs. Scruggs was a lady highly esteemed by all who knew her, and had been a consistent member of the church for several years. She was about thirty years of age and leaves a husband and six children to mourn their loss.

Here's a Record For You.

DANVILLE, KY., JAS.—William Cox, a citizen of Monticello, Ky., ate his New Year dinner around a board at which sat three of his wives, and he is only thirty-eight years of age.

This, at first glance, appears to be an astounding condition of affairs, but is easily explained. His first wife was Miss Minerva Smith, who bore him nine children, and was afterward divorced. Mr. Cox then married Miss Julia Stephens, from which no children resulted, and he was soon divorced from her. He then wedded his present spouse, a Tennessee lady, and seven children have blessed their home.

His first two wives have married again, and there is now a feeling of perfect harmony and good will existing between them. On New Year's day Mr Cox spread a banquet at his home and invited his former help meets to celebrate the event with him. They gladly responded, and the day passed without a ripple of dissatisfaction or unpleasantness to mar the occasion.

This matrimonial hero was first married at the age of fourteen, and as he keeps up his past record and lives his three score and ten years, his name should adorn the pension rolls of Uncle Sam. Three wives and sixteen children at thirty-eight is a record to be proud of.

Case Continued.

The examining trial of Will Boyd, who cut Clarence McElroy at Kelly, a few days ago, was continued until Jan. 18th, the Commonwealth not being ready for trial. Morrison gave a $1,000 bond for his appearance.

Mr. S. C. Sawyer of Brighton, England, thinks that cultivators of roses as a rule, pay too much attention to the color, form and size of roses, neglecting the fragrance, which varies so much in the color. He says that the most perfect roses can discriminate many varieties of roses in the dark by their perfume.

LOWENTHAL-HART.

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS AT HOTEL LATHAM WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Mr. Max J. Lowenthal, of Louisville, and Miss Lu Hart, in the presence of 300 friends.—The ceremony followed by an elaborate banquet and dancing afterwards.

The new Hotel Latham has been the scene of its first fashionable wedding. In the elegant parlors at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Mr. Max Lowenthal, of Nashville, and Miss Lu Hart, of this city, were united in marriage. The wedding was in many respects the most brilliant and stylish seen in Hopkinsville in many years.

The large parlors were elaborately decorated and brilliantly illuminated for the auspicious occasion. In the double door connecting the north or blue parlor with the main parlor, a double arch or canopy was constructed. This was decorated with natural flowers, smilax, and white ribbon. Underneath it the bridal couple stood with their backs to the audience, the Rabbi facing the main parlor.

The bridal party entered by the main door and turning to the right formed a group about the canopy, through which the bride and groom passed and stopped to bestow the beautiful decorations. They were preceded by the parents and other near relatives of the bride.

Next came the ushers, Messrs. Sol Syher, Simon Cohen, A. Jacobi and Walser Wood. Then little children followed strewing flowers in their pathway. These were little Misses Sadie Cohen, Clementine Bacher, Rosalind Frankel and Edna Frankel. The attendants were A. D. Lowenthal and Miss Lottie Goldstein; Harry Lipsite and Miss Jessie Lauchin; Sam Frankel and Miss Selena Baum; Jake Baum and Miss Lula Cohen; Paul Levy and Miss Sadie Frankel.

The maid of honor was the lovely Miss Belle Jacobs, of Louisville, a young lady whose beauty is of the richest blonde type.

The bride never appeared to better advantage. Pretty and graceful, she entered with the maid of honor in advance of the groom, who came with his best man, Mr. Ben Isaacs. The couple quickly joined hands and Rev. I. Levinthal, in a most beautiful and appropriate ceremony, said the words that made them man and wife. The invocation, the ceremony, the benediction, all were in exact taste and eloquently and fittingly said, a portion of the ceremony being in the Hebrew language.

Standing under the bridal canopy, the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends, and at a few minutes before 9 o'clock the guests were invited into the dining room. Seats were prepared for 162 and nearly all of the guests were able to eat at one time. The following was the menu:

Raw Oysters.
Celery.
Almonds Salted. Spanish Olives.
Broiled Salmon, a la Maitre de Hotel.
Satsuma Chips.
ROAST.
Turkey, Oyster Dressing.
Cranberry Sauce.
Baked Mashed Potatoes.

Chicken Salad.
Shrimp Salad.
Bridal Cake.
Assorted Cake.

Wines were served at intervals throughout the banquet.

Toasts were responded to by Messrs. Hunter Wood, Frank Bell, L. J. Lowenthal and I. Levinthal. Other gentlemen were called on for speeches after the regular list was completed, but excused themselves from attempting formal response. There were so many handsome and becoming costumes that we will not attempt a description of any of them, since space will not allow us to mention all.

Shortly after 12 o'clock the dining room was cleared and dancing indulged in until far into the night, to the music of Ward's Orchestra.

During the evening Miss Carrie Fletcher, of Louisville, by request, gave some vocal selections, and Miss Ross Steinhausen rendered some choice instrumental music.

The affair from start to finish was elegant in its details, elaborate in its preparations, and brilliant in execution. The evening was thoroughly enjoyable to all who were present.

Mr. W. L. Bamberg was master of ceremonies, and to him more than any one else is due the credit for the success of the affair from beginning to end. In arranging the decorations, in bringing in the bridal party and especially in leading the march to the dining room and looking after each and every guest during the banquet, his fine work as a manager and conductor va

The groom is a young commercial traveler who will make this city his home in the future. He is a young gentleman of fine character and business qualifications, and is highly esteemed by the dry goods men with whom he does business. His bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Hart and her many admirable traits, and graces of mind and person are fully appreciated in this city, where she has spent all her life. The wishes of her throng of friends for her future prosperity and happiness were born of a sincere esteem and genuine esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowenthal received the handsomest collection of costly and beautiful bridal presents ever seen in Hopkinsville. They were not on exhibition at the hotel, and only those friends who called at the residence were permitted to see them.

The visitors present from other places, as far as could be learned, were as follows: Clarksville, A. Rosenfeld, Joe Joseph, R. Rosenfeld, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kleeman, Wm. A famous blind woman. The death of "The Blind Woman of Manzanarez" has attracted wide attention in Spain, where she was known from one end of the country to the other. She was a poet and had a great talent for writing悲歌 verse, and her misery. Many of the poems are here given, and the author enjoyed a large income. She was said to be one of the best reciters in Spain, and many of the most famous men in that country made pilgrimages to her house to hear her. Queen Isabella gave her a pension when she was old and she left about 1860.

Powell's Mystic Carnival. The entertaining and ever welcome Powell will make his appearance at the opera House Jan. 14 assisted by his large corps of celebrated assistants in a programme of legerdemain magic and incomprehensible illusion. Powell has discarded the old theory of repetition and is presenting a very bright and interesting collection among them the diminishing cards". "The spirit cabinet". "She, or the Pillar of Fire", "After the Flood" or the Ark of Noah "The Hindoo Mystery", and several others equally as good. The performance is divided into five parts, each an act, and for two hours and a half the audience is kept busy guessing how it is all done. Powell's entertainment is thoroughly upto date and is as funny as a comedy and as interesting as a drama, this being the only entertainment of its kind you will have the pleasure of witnessing; the house will no doubt be crowded with those who will be eager to know how it is done. Watch it closely and you will see how it isn't exemplified.

Tom Williamson, the new jailer, is about the cleverest Republican in the county. Everybody likes him, even those who voted against him. He is a good citizen, a good member of the Baptist church and if he doesn't make a good jailer the Democrats will put him out in 1897—and they will probably do it anyhow.

Wilson is to live only on what the public gives him, and is to win a wager of $1,500 if he concludes his travels within the time stipulated.

FROM MANY FIELDS.

The carrier pigeon has just been turned to a curious use in Hawaii. It is to convey negatives of photographs taken in a balloon.

Uncle Tom Cotton of Brownfield, Maine, attributes his good health at eighty-six to the fact that he never had one of them new-fangled stores in his house.

Tom lands in East Tennessee, staked and sold to tenderfoot in city lots at $100 the foot front, are now plowed again by the farmers who started the foreclosure sales.

Dr. Fortineau of Camden, N. J., died recently of pneumonia. He was made especially susceptible to the disease by his fondness for French brandies that had lodged in his throat.

The total cost of the San Francisco Young Men's Christian association building is $328,000. The lot cost $105,000, the building $203,000 and the gymnasium outfit and interior furnishing $20,000.

In Sacramento alone there are twenty seven grain distilleries and thirty fruit distilleries, all registered as operating during the past fiscal year. In the state there were produced 25,296 gallons of apple brandy and 47,354 gallons of peach brandy.

A dog standing thirty-nine inches high and weighing 130 pounds, as big as a bulldog, was captured by the police of Cattleshaw, Ky. It is a German deer hound, of the same species as Blasmarck's two favorites and is only twelve months old.

According to Invention, a building has recently been erected by Herr Wagner, an architect at Limburg, solely of materials formed of wood between the leaves of a wild history book bound in leather.

It is claimed that hard natural stones of almost every variety have been successfully imitated with this very cheap material.

A nine-penny shiplapster, bearing date of April 1777, a specimen of probably the oldest United States money in existence, was recently bought at the lawns of a wild history book bound in leather.

The bill was printed by John Dunlap of Philadelphia, and has printed on one side the warning: "To counterfeit is death."

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

It is discouraging to a newly married man to see his conscience praining his blushing little wife's first error, and to have her tell him she regretted at the time.

"The Old Woman of the Woods" is the name given a queer character in Tennessee. It is a woman who is partially demented, and who roams the country at all hours of the day and night, sometimes talking to herself, and then frightening children with her shrieks.

A four-year-old absolutely consists of all the shades of meaning in our English words, recently attended a reception at Vassar college, at which the young ladies of the institution were arrayed in all the bewildering beauty of evening toilettes. Said her parents, "We have never seen so grand a sight as those young ladies in their night gowns."

The fire department of Jacksonville, Fla., was turned out the other day to put out the burning pain in a woman's finger. While cooking the woman mashed her finger, and ran out of the house shrieking "Fire!" A man, who happened to be passed by at the first yell and thought it an alarm of fire, which brought the engine and hose wagons to the scene on a gallop. The firemen helped the woman swear some and went back to their quarters.

A lawyer was cross-questioning a negro witness in one of the Justice courts at Macon, Ga., the other day and was getting along fairly well until he asked the witness what his occupation was. "I'm a carpenter," said he. "What kind of a carpenter?" "They call me a jack-leg carpenter," said the negro. "I am a jack-leg carpenter." He failed to explain fully what you understand a jack-leg carpenter to be," insisted the lawyer. "Boss, I declare I dunno how ter explain any mo' 'cept to say hit am jes' the same difference twixt you an' er fus'-class lawyer."

ANIMATE NATURE.

In each wing of the ostrich twenty-six long white plumes grow to maturity in eight months. In the male the feathers are white, while those of the female shade to earth or gray.

In the whole range of the Alps there are but two peaks which measure more than 15,000 feet in height, and only six or seven that go above 14,000. In the Himalaya range, however, there are thousands of titanic clouds circling peaks—ranging from 20,000 feet downward.

The smallest living fossil ever foaled in the United States made its appearance in Hartford City, Ind., in 1889. When two days old it only measured nine inches from the mane to the root of the tail; was only 31 inches high, and weighed but 27½ pounds. It was of the smallest breed.

Thousands of camels were taken to Western Australia from India and the camel caravan has largely supplanted the bullock team there. They thrive upon the natural shrubs of the country, such as salt brush, wattle, acacia and mulga. They breed well, and the mares are better than the imported ones.

Sportsmen who have never seen a moose will be interested in the dimensions of one recently killed near the Ebecue lakes in Northern Maine. The animal measured seven feet high at the shoulders and his body was 10 feet long, and his maximum measurement from his nose to his hind feet was fifteen feet. The spread of his horns was four feet four inches.

MARRIAGES FOR 1894.

| | WHITE. | COLORED. | TOTAL. |
|------------|--------|----------|--------|
| January, | 18 | 8 | 26 |

| November, | 19 | 15 | 34 |
| December, | 20 | 20 | 40 |
| Total | 127 | 152 | 279 |

The above figures give some interesting facts about matrimonial matters. They show that 558 persons were married in Christian county in 1894, 279 males and the same number of females. Of these 152 couples were colored and only 127 white. The best months for marrying are shown to be December, November, October, January, and February in the order named, 168, or nearly two thirds of the whole number, having joined their destinies in those months. March appears to be the poorest month, with August and September next and equal.

Taken in the aggregate, the figures do not show that the year was a good one for marrying. The usual average in Christian county is about 300 couples annually.

The always fascinating atmosphere of stock speculation forms the subject of Gilmer McKendree's strong story "A Deal in Denver" which is the leading feature of the December number of that sprightly publication "Tales from Town Topics." The picture of a high-class New York physician who neglects his patients and practice to plunge into the maelstrom of Wall street is graphically drawn, and the story possesses other elements both tragic and pathetic that are sure to interest the reader from start to finish. The case of murder so ingeniously contrived and skilfully executed as to utterly baffle the police is sufficiently thrilling to enchain the attention of the reader even without the other strong elements that "A Deal in Denver" contains. "A Deal in Denver" is accompanied by a collection of short stories, sketches, poems and witnissicks taken from the back numbers of Town Topics. The whole makes a bright volume, especially suited for an acceptable holiday gift. Town Topics Publishing Company, 208 Fifth avenue, New York City.

THEY ARE EASILY HOAXED.
Story of a Chicago Horse Trick Credited by Our English Cousins.

It seems to be an easy matter to hoax our English cousins, for just now they are accepting in good faith this yarn about a race alleged to have been run at Chicago, says the New York Herald.

There had been a false start, owing to a mistake made by the man with the advance flag, and in spite of the growling of the men who had backed a black horse that "wasn't good for nothing" and, unlike so many good things of which we have had constant experience, won in a canter by any number of lengths, the horses returned to the post. The starter, much put out, of course, at the catastrophe, took his place again.

"While he was standing there," the story goes on to relate, "a black boy who was so handicapped by lack of height that it was impossible for him to see the race, spied a place of vantage behind the starting post, and legged it to the starter. He crept up and soon was snugly fixed in his place. The starter happened to glance down and saw the black face peering into space.

"'Begone, you imp!' he cried, and at the same time pulled his flag, the advance flag, man was keen and watchful. He did not see the negro, but he was conscious that the starter's flag had dipped. Down went his own again, and once more the field swept away. Once more all was confusion, and once again the black horse walked home first."

"Things were getting serious now. Hands stealthily sought their hip pockets, and when they emerged they had a handkerchief or two to wrap around them. It did not make any difference to the crowd whether the starter's flag had fallen or not; the black horse had won the race twice, and if there was to be any more running they would attend to the starting post after this. When the race was over the starters were sent to the paddock for a twenty minutes' rest, and while they were there the race was declared off."

STARTLED THE DUDELETS.

The Misfortune of a Young Swell Which Started a New Fashion.

The other day a young fellow wanted a pair of evening gloves late at night, and had to go over to Sixth avenue to get them, says the New York Press. There was nothing of his size in stock but a pair of white gloves, while pearl alone are de rigueur. However, he was dancing with a girl in white gloves, so he bought the gloves, and in due course of time led the cotillion wearing them. The chappies were astounded. Nobody could question this man's irreproachable taste, and in fact he was something of a leader of fashion. After such a brilliant performance, who would guess him to know whether or not white gloves had come back again.

"I'm wearing them, myself, you see, dear boy," he said, jokingly, but with a slightly supercilious smile: "I haven't got any others, but the prides has found it out yet or not."

Now your true dude is not susceptible to the influence of fashions. Besides, the deputation was flustered at the innovation. The result was that they mixed those speech up, and in half an hour everybody was wearing white gloves. The prince of Wales had taken to wearing white gloves in the evening, and that Tom Blanks was the first man in New York to hear of it. So white gloves and not pearl became the propitiating thing. After this, the gloves were in demand, and when our man of fashion strolled into the Metropolitan opera house the other night and looked around the circle he smiled grimly. Half the men in the boxes looked as if they were carrying snowballs.

HORSES AND ELECTRICITY.

The Animal Susceptible to Them Especially Susceptible.

The horse is easily killed by electricity. It is popularly supposed that the current, on entering the body, meets with some physiological susceptibility that makes this animal more vulnerable than others to the action of the current. The London Lancet holds that there is no good ground for this assumption. The explanation lies elsewhere.

The hoof, and more particularly its crust and sole, is a good insulator, but the shoe presented to the ground a large surface of contact, and this contact is in connection with metallic conductors in the shape of nails which pierce the strongest part of the insulation, and afford an easy electrical path into the body. The contact with the earth through the hoof itself is the greatest superconductor weight of the animal, and it may often happen that in passing over wet ground the external surface of the hoof and the wet footlock, especially in the case of unshod horses, may become sufficiently wet to form a good surface conductor, and thus allow the electric current from the earth to the upper part of the body. In this way the safety of the natural "resistance" of the hoofs is neutralized.

A horse, too, covers more ground than a man and runs greater risks when being handled with points of ground further apart. Horses ought to consider the above well, so as to induce them to bestow extra care upon the driving of the nail, to see that it does not penetrate to the "quick."

He Knew the Game.

The following little comedy was performed in the Tombs police court in New York city recently. "Now, sir," said the police justice to a witness, "what's your name?" The witness, who was evidently from the very rural districts, put on a look of extreme cunning and drawled out: "I won't tell you. I know your game. You'll git me into trouble if I do." "Well, here some other smart counsel will come up and ask me how Mandy and the children is, and when I saw my son, the cashier in our bank down to the corners. I know your game—and I won't tell you my name."

OF RELIEF, CURED BY
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

"Some time since I had a severe attack of asthma, with a distressing cough, a dry rattling cough and a general soreness of the joints and muscles. I consulted physicians and tried various remedies, but without getting any relief, until I discovered Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Finally I took a pint of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and in a very short time, was entirely cured. I can, therefore, confidently and confidently commend this medicine to all." —J. RONELLS, Victoria, Texas.

"My wife had a very troublesome condition of rheumatism, which was painful and protracted and gave immediate relief." —G. H. FORDICE, Humphreys, Ga.

THE PERFECT MAN.
One in a Thousand May Come Up to These Markings.

Physical Doctor Stender has done a great deal to improve the condition of young and old men in this city, says the Detroit Tribune. His success is based on his scientific ideas. He believes in the moral man, the physical man, the sound man, the sound mind.
He says that if you will bring him a boy at sixteen years of age, and will agree to pay him for four or five years, he can accomplish almost anything that boy's body is concerned in. He can change his height, his weight, and his temperament; he can equip him with a force that will be fine and robust; he will give the youth a fund of strength and energy, and make him a man of strength and endurance.

"I feel that my poor charger had done his best, and I wanted to gallop him on for forty yards through the throng of rebels and then dropped. I was in an awkward predicament—unhorsed, surrounded by the enemy, and owing to the darkness, ignorant in which direction to proceed—when my own valiant horseman, Cooper
Take my horse, rode up to me and said
Take my horse; it is your only chance of safety."

"I could not but admire his fine conduct. He was a Hindostan Mussulman, belonging to the regiment the greater part of whose members were dead, and it would have been easy for him to kill me and go over to the enemy."
"I refused his offer, but, taking a firm grasp of his horse's tail, I told him to drag me out of the crowd. That he did successfully and with great courage."

"The next morning I called him to my tent, praised him for his gallant behavior and offered him some little money. He declined it with great dignity."

"Now, saith I, will I take no money," he said, drawing himself up, "but if you will get my commanding officer to make me I shall be very grateful."

"He was duly promoted, and received also the second-class order of merit."

TIPS FROM THE EARS.

A Young Lady of Observation Says There

I don't know where there is any such place as a "lady of observation". But I find a lady of observation recently, but I find it a very safe and useful thing to take note of my friends' ears. I haven't yet got so far in my studies as to formulate a fixed set of rules for the reading of character by the size, shape and position of these little handles. In fact, our studies have been directed to one point—the top or apex of the ear.

There's a whole world of tear-indication there, and it would be a good thing if young girls were to get the habit of casting a glance at the anatomy of their own ears and adjusting them accordingly, and make a mental note for their own guidance by what they see there.

If the top of the ear lies close to the head and the ridge is straight or only gently rounded, the young man that you meet kind of ear may be a rascal as a lamb. But if the top starts away from the head at a well defined angle and runs up to point before turning down to become the back ridge, then you have met a good man and better he keeps as a good friend.
That's the fawn ear, and when those wise old Greeks and Romans gave to the earring companions of the nymphs of the woods goat legs and goat ears they knew what they were about.
The ear is either a good one or a bad one, either, and that point of the ear is just full of character and warning to-day.

LONDON'S MUTTON.

Norway Preparing to Supply the Great Northern Market.

London will shortly have the advantage of another meat supply—this time from Norway—which is perfecting arrangements for supplying the English market with as much mutton, bacon and ham as possible for export exclusively.

Systematic experiments were made recently, says the London Telegraph, and the results were so satisfactory that in the near approach of cold season it is intended to have a large quantity of meat sent over.

It appears that eighty sheep, weighing about 100 pounds, were fattened for a week or so until they turned the scale from 115 pounds to 123 pounds. They were then sheared and sent to London, where they realized an average price, after deducting expenses, of 30s. per head, and the total outlay, including 20s. per head for feed, was £100.

With 26s. per head for transport and 10s. per head for insurance, the total cost was £120.
